

Our GSK Student Code of Conduct

At Good Shepherd School we want to feel safe.

In order to feel safe, we will seek to understand and follow the school rules and be thoughtful in the ways we make good choices.

When someone isn't feeling safe, we will support them and ask a trusted adult for help.

At Good Shepherd School we want to feel like we are respected.

In order to feel like we are respected, we will show respect to others by listening, treating them with kindness and accepting everyone for who they are.

When someone isn't feeling respected, we will act with compassion by being kind to them and supporting them.

At Good Shepherd School we want to feel included.

In order to feel included, we will welcome others by being friendly and kind. We will respect the friendship choices of others, while we ensure that everyone feels that they belong.

When someone isn't feeling included, we will be a kind and caring friend and include them in our play. We will invite them to share their feelings so we can support them.

At Good Shepherd School we want to feel loved.

In order to feel loved we will treat others with kindness and gentleness. We will try to model the loving ways of Jesus.

When someone isn't feeling loved, we will try to cheer them up and show them that they are cared for.

At Good Shepherd School we want to feel comfortable.

In order to feel comfortable, we will work hard to care for the environment while we help each other to feel safe, happy and "at home".

When someone does not feel comfortable, we will welcome them in our play, and help them to enjoy the beautiful environment at our school.

At Good Shepherd School we want to feel happy.

In order to feel happy, will be true to ourselves and be grateful for all that we have. We will try to be friendly and to make others laugh.

When someone does not feel happy, we will be encouraging and help them to see that they are special.
